

Shirts made to order. Agents for the ELECTRIC LAUNDRY, Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVE., JUNE 26, 1894.

ROSSER & MCARTHY
Publishers and Proprietors.
TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

We expected to-day,
A grand parade
By the boys of town
In their costumes;
But into this air
Now falls the dream,
For the weather, alas,
Has busted the act alone.

MAYSVILLE is supplying Ripley with ice.

COTTONADE suits at $1 each are the latest.

HARVEST is in progress all over the country.

SEVERAL persons in overcoats were seen on the streets this morning.

FOURTEEN and sixteen cents was refused for two barns of tobacco at Ripley, this week.

The mercury this morning stood at sixty-two degrees, a difference of thirty degrees since yesterday.

THERE was no telegraphic communication with the outer world yesterday, the wires being down. They are still out of order to-day.

SEVEN persons have died suddenly in this neighborhood in the last several days, four of them by drowning. There were four funerals yesterday.

JOHN WHEELER has just received a supply of pickled salmon, a new delicacy, which he is retailing at wholesale price. They are very fine. Try them.

A COLORED woman, the wife of Islam Anderson, died suddenly at Washington, yesterday afternoon. Her death is supposed to have been caused by the intense heat.

A WATER trough has been placed at the junction of Taylor's Mill road on the Flemingsburg turnpike, by Mr. Frank Clift. The traveling public is much indebted to him.

HOOVER STEVENS, who was convicted at the last term of the Bourbon Circuit Court of the killing of Bart Scully, and whose case was reversed by the Court of Appeals recently, has been released from prison on $5,000 bail.

THIS proposition to close all the business houses in Mayville on the 4th of July is favorably received and it is very probable that it will be done. The day is a national holiday and, for once, at least, let us observe it.

THE Cincinnati Stars and the Mayville club will play a game of base ball at East End park, on Friday afternoon at half-past two o'clock. The Mayville boys are in good practice and their friends are very confident they will make a good record.

AS oil portrait of Nellie Poyntz Ferry, a little miss from Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, the work of Miss Lizzie Ricketts, of this city, is on exhibition at Albert's China Palace. It is as fine a piece of work as Miss Ricketts has ever executed and that is saying a great deal.

Building Notes.
The Neptune Fire Company will begin at an early day the erection of a two-story brick building in the rear of the hall on Third street. The new structure will be 30x34 feet in size and will be used as an engine room and hall, the entrance being through the alley that leads to Limestone street.

Mr. Henry Peacor will begin soon to build, on Limestone street, a two-story frame residence of five rooms.

Messrs. Lane & Worrick have just closed a contract with Col. W. W. Baldwin for the erection of a fine barn at his farm, near this city. The building will be in size 52x90 feet and is to be painted and will have a handsome cornice. It will be, probably, the finest barn in the county.

Honors His Father and Draws $15,000.
The holder of one-fifth ticket 10,842, the capital of $75,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery, Tuesday, is Mr. Isaac Haines, engineer on the M. & C. R. R. To a Chattanooga Times reporter he said: "I happened to find an old $10 bill in my pocketbook when in Memphis, and concluded to buy a lottery ticket of M. A. Daughlin, New Orleans, La., by mail. I thought no more of it, when a telegram was received to-day, that No. 10,842 had drawn the prize, $75,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery, I found that my ticket corresponded with the number. He has been on the M. & C. R. R., fourteen years, and is held in high esteem. He has supported two sisters and an aged father for years near Stevenson, Ala. A few months ago, in the same Louisiana State Lottery, he drew a large prize, receiving $600 for his share."—Memphis Tenn., Ledger.

Academy of the Visitation.

The closing exercises of the Academy of the Visitation took place in the handsome exhibition hall of the convent yesterday morning. Although the morning was very warm, the hall was filled to its utmost capacity with an audience of our most refined and cultivated people. Promptly at nine o'clock the programme opened with a grand march and the pupils entered in pairs from the rear of the stage, and after a graceful bow took their seats in front of the audience.

Mr. Thomas R. Phister, of this city, then delivered a beautiful welcoming address in behalf of the sisters. The talented young speaker aroused the warmest admiration by his appropriate and eloquent remarks, which in every sentence showed the oratorical ability he possesses.

The sisters had prepared a programme for the occasion of more than usual excellence, and it would take too much space to note all its beauties. The musical portion of the entertainment was pronounced by competent judges as the finest exhibition of the kind given in our city in many years, and while all did remarkably well, we cannot but mention the wonderful talent of little Miss Jeannie Frazer, who, though only thirteen, performed with some of the most difficult pieces, also that of Miss Mattie Owens, the graduate, whose addition to other pieces, gave that most efficient of piano music, a left hand solo.

Though the programme was long, yet so well it was arranged that no one was wearied and the entire crowd remained to the end. The only graduate this year was Miss Mattie Owens, the lovely and accomplished daughter of Mr. Basil Owens, of this county, who not only has completed the regular graduating course, but has also taken the first award in drawing and painting and china painting and in music, honors that show her ability and industry. Her dress was an exquisitely made cream colored satin, decorated with beautiful hand painting, the work of the fair graduate herself, which gave ample evidence of her skill with the brush. A sweet and touching portion of the programme was the conferring of the graduating honors on Miss Owens and the presentation of flowers to her by her schoolmates. Her response was delivered in a very graceful manner.

The valedictory address of Miss Owens was a fitting conclusion to the morning. It was an original poem composed by herself and was replete with sentiment and poetical beauty, and the young poetess rendered it with expression and feeling. Well may the sisters be proud of their pupil. We hope the next scholastic year may be a successful one with them, as this is a fine educational institution and one that deserves success.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. John Cox, of Chester, is seriously ill. Mr. Walker Ellis died suddenly of paralysis at Ripley, on the 23rd inst. Miss Cynthia Paul is visiting her sister, Mrs. Harry Wensel, at Flemingsburg. Miss Ella Ryan, of Shannon, is the guest of Mrs. John Ryan, of East Mayville.

Mrs. L. Holliday, of Cincinnati, is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. Stalleup, of East Mayville.

Mrs. Dr. C. E. Billings, of North Vernon, Ind., is visiting the family of Mr. E. E. Eshon, of Chester.

Misses Mary and Katie Noyes of Charleston, W. Va., will arrive to-day, on a visit to Mrs. J. B. Noyes.

Mr. Jeff J. Eldish, advertising agent for the Cincinnati Exposition, is in the city to-day putting up some very handsome lithographs.

Accident.

A little daughter of Mr. George Rice, three and a half years old, fell from a swing, yesterday, at the residence, on Front street, and broke the bones of one of her legs.

A Great Medicine.

New York Sun.

"Doctor, I want to thank you for your great patent medicine."

"It helped you, did it?" asked the Doctor, very much pleased.

"It helped me wonderfully."

"How many bottles did you find it necessary to take?"

"Oh, I don't take any of it. My uncle took one bottle, and I am his sole heir."

Ice Water in Germany.

Cor. Medical News.

In Prague one misses ice water and our various cooling appliances very much. It is possible, with a good deal of trouble, to get a glass of water with a few pieces of ice in it; but it always seems to excite so much surprise, alarm and horror in the spectators, that one has to seek out a secluded corner of the restaurant to drink it. I do not know which they regard the warm or cold ice water or eating raw tomatoes. Now, I am very fond of the latter, and always eat them when I can; but from seeing a crowd around my part of the room every day, I begin to have a suspicion that the proprietor uses me for an advertisement, and that the crowd come daily to see the great American tomato-eater. Ice water seems especially to be regarded as a deadly poison, the cause of all the dyspepsia in America.

A MALE LADY'S MAID.

A Society Scandal that is Convulsing London Society.

Vanity Fair contained a startling sensation, involving a scandalous charge against a lady of title and high social standing. According to Vanity Fair, a young person who has been for some time in the lady's employ as a confidential maid, has been discovered by the police to have been practicing a shameless deception. The newspaper does not venture to name the lady's name, but refers all inquiries to the police. This public reference to a scandal which has for several days been a whispered subject in the clubs is expected to cause a commotion in Belgravia. The story is told in much greater detail by a well known detective, who is employed exclusively upon what are known as society cases. According to this authority, the lady's maid was a modest appearing and demure young person, who seemed to give great satisfaction to the lady, but who never mixed with the other servants, and was regarded by them as supercilious and disagreeable.

One day, when the lady had been absent for some time, the police discovered the lady's household, who especially disliked the lady's maid, had for her been a very intelligent member of the police force, and she told him of her dislike for her fellow servant. This led the Constable to take particular notice of the lady's maid, and he soon discovered little peculiarities in her manner and bearing that led him to believe that a masquerade was in progress, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never felt so cheap and ill-rewarded in his life as when he saw that his startling intelligence was correct, and that, in fact, the maid was none other than the policeman at once jumped to the conclusion that the young man had gained access to the lady's household for the purpose of robbery, and was bringing his time to pass with the jewel cases. The officer reported his suspicions and theory to his superior, and was instructed to follow up the case and obtain conclusive evidence as to the suspected person's sex. He soon found abundant proof that his suspicions were correct, and made haste to inform the lady that the person whom she had harbored as a confidential maid was in fact a young man. It is stated that the zealous policeman never
